BRITISH PERSONALITIES

Teacher's notes:

Task I. Memory Game. Did they meet?

The principle of the game is pelmanism (pexeso) and is for groups of three or four.

- 1) Copy and cut the cards with British personalities. Give each group a set of cards.
- 2) Students put the cards on the desk with the names hidden. The aim is to find a pair of personalities who met during their lives and have something to do with each other. One student turns over one card, looks for a matching card, if they don't find it, they turn both cards back and the other student continues. The winner is the student with most cards and in the class the quickest group.

Key: William the Conqueror(1028 – 1087) + Harald Hardrada(1015 – 1066), Queen Elizabeth I.(1533 – 1603) + William Shakespeare(1564 – 1603), Thomas Beckett(1118 – 1170) + Henry II.(1133 – 1189), John Lackland(1167 – 1216) + Richard the Lionheart(1157 – 1199), James I. Stuart(1566 – 1625) + Guy Fawkes(1570 – 1606), Charles I.(1600 – 1649) + Oliver Cromwell(1599 – 1658), Queen Victoria(1819 – 1901) + Charles Dickens(1812 – 1870), Neville Chamberlain(1869 – 1940) + Winston Churchill(1874 – 1965), Queen Elizabeth II.(1926 -) + J.R.R.Tolkien(1892 – 1972), Lady Diana(1961 – 1997) + Prince William(1982 -)

Task II. Who did what and when?

The aim of the activity is to revise the students' knowledge of British historical personalities and events.

- 1) Print the handout with the speech bubbles and on the reverse side of the page print the key. Students work individually or in pairs, match the sentences and discuss other facts they know. Then they may turn the page and see the solution.

OR

- 2) Put the handout on the dataprojector, students may work in pairs or do it as a class activity and discuss the events together.
